Broker Dealers used by OB USA have a regulatory responsibility to achieve best execution. Not all investment advisers require clients to direct their trade brokerage. Lower rates than those provided by the OB USA selected broker dealers may be available.

Aggregation of Client Purchases

OB USA endeavors to aggregate and allocate securities purchases and sales to achieve the best price for the client and not to negatively impact the market or disadvantage any client.

A random selection process is normally used such as starting at either the beginning, the end or in the middle of an alphabetical or numerical list of clients.

It is the policy of OB USA that when securities are being initially purchased for, or sold from, a client's portfolio, orders for the same securities from OB USA and associated person's accounts are not included in the aggregated transaction. Generally speaking, prices achieved on aggregated client purchases are less than the average daily price for the same issue.

Review of Accounts

Client portfolios are continuously monitored for adherence to investment objectives. Any client activity will trigger a daily report that is reviewed by a Director of OB USA. On a monthly basis, all OB USA accounts with activity are reviewed to ensure suitability. Changes in portfolios are triggered by rebalancing to accommodate a change in investment strategy to meet client objectives.

All clients receive electronic monthly statements on their accounts as well as transaction confirmations available electronically the day of the transaction. If there is no account activity, electronic statements are provided on a quarterly basis. Statements and confirmations are only provided in electronic format to clients.
